An Entire Settlement of Fifteen

Souls Massacred by

Navajo Indians.

Plucky Resistance of the Devoted Band and Successful Repulse of the First Assault.

A Troop of Cavalry, Sent to the Rescue

From Fort Lewis, Arrive Too Late to Prevent the Massacre.

DENVER, Colo., April 23.—A. Johnson, who was present at the recent battle between the Navajo and whites at Mitchell's place, Lower San Juan River, Southern Colorado, arrived in Durango, Yuma,

Arizona, yesterday. Johnson says: "Myself, Wm.

Stevens and Victor Neff arrived at Mitchell's place the evening of the 15th.

A party of a dozen Navajo Indians came to the store. One drew a gun on Edward Mitchell. While the quarrel progressed a Navajo named

Red Lion commenced removing the buckskin from his rifle, and other Indians ran for their guns, but were standing against the store. Both the Indians and whites began firing. After about twenty-five shots were exchanged the Indians retreated across the river, leaving one dead on the ground. None of the whites were hurt.

The whites then proceeded to throw up a fortification, while the women showed great pluck in carrying this water to supply them in case of a siege. Johnson started for Fort Lewis. The commanding officer immediately started a company of cavalry to the relief of Mitchell. When they reached Mitchell's place they found that the Indians had been killed all the while at Mitchell's place.

So far no other word has been received,

and Johnson fears all the whites have been massacred. It is not probable that the whites will be able to reach Mitchell's place. The Indians are now in the Died Suddenly at Taylorville.

At 2 o'clock this morning Rev. D. P. Bunn received a telegram from Taylorville announcing the sudden death of his son-in-law, Mr. Alonzo S. Rockwell, at his home in Taylorville. The deceased married a sister of D. L. Bunn who was known as "Pet," and he was a brother of Mrs. Dr. S. T. Trowbridge of this city. He was in apparent good health yesterday afternoon, but he was taken suddenly ill with hemorrhage of the lungs last evening and died at 7:45 o'clock, ten minutes after he was taken sick. He was 46 years of age, and had lived at Taylorville for a period of 30 years. He was made postmaster by President Lincoln and held the place for several terms. Of late years he was associated with Mr. Jayne in carrying on a large jewelry, drug and notion business at Taylorville. For a number of years previous to 1890 the deceased lived in Decatur. Mr. Rockwell was a native of Ohio, and came to Decatur with his parents from Chicago in 1852, and while here he learned the jewelry trade with the Peake brothers. He was a consumptive, but had no fear of hemorrhage. He was one of the leading citizens of Taylorville, a man of excellent character, and highly respected by a useful and exemplary member. Rev. D. P. Bunn left for Taylorville this morning, and this evening D. L. Bunn and Dr. and Mrs. Trowbridge will depart for the same place.

Light for Carpenter.

The Springfield Post of last evening contained the following: "Developments of the past three weeks throw new light upon the Zura Burns case. In short, it may be said that there is a chance for Orrin Carpenter to remove the odium from his once good name and at no very distant date establish himself as an innocent man. The Post is in possession of the details of a very tangible clue, but at present cannot 'give it away' for fear of upsetting a well laid plan for the capture of the murderer. Were the facts, now in possession of detectives and Carpenter's attorneys published, it would at least suspend public sentiment, which it must be acknowledged is now very bitter against Carpenter. A chain of circumstances has been established, which if true, will entirely remove suspicion from the man who to-day stands charged, and in the minds of many, guilty of one of the most heinous crimes on record."

Not Going to the Relief of Kendrick.

An unsuccessful effort was made this forenoon to make up an excursion party to go to Troy, New York, for the purpose of getting "our former beloved pastor," "Rev." T. T. Kendrick out of jail. This is written up and illustrated in this week's Police Gazette, arrested for forgery at Troy on April 9th. The charge is that Kendrick got credit on a bogus note of $500, purporting to have been issued by a loan company in Washington in 1877, and to have been secured by real estate in that city. He is now in jail at Troy waiting an examination. It is represented that T. T. Kendrick is very indignant over his arrest and incarceration and at the showing up of his career as a preacher and swindler by the newspapers. A Troy officer says there is little if any doubt of the prisoner's guilt as charged. "Rev." Kendrick is described as 50 years of age, 6 feet tall, weighs 200 pounds, has dark complexion, eyes and hair, and he says his present occupation is that of an agent. Some Decatur people express regret that their pressing engagements at home will prevent them from flying to the relief of T. T. Kendrick. He can get no aid from Decatur at the time, and he will have to rely on his own means and cheek to get out of jail.

The Minstrels.

Burnt cork and burlesque opera entertainment at the opera house Saturday night. This is what the Washington Critic said of the troupe: "For novelty in design and perfection in execution, the Leon and Cushman's minstrels are the peers of the universe. Last evening at their initial performance, this season at Ford's opera house, every available seat in the theatre was taken, and from the ringing up of the curtain to the going down of the same a continuous series of applause arose from the appreciative audience. Popular prices of admission will be charged—35, 50 and 75 cents."

The mayor of Peoria is endeavoring to arrange a monster Fourth of July celebration as a wind-up to the Democratic state convention, which commences in that city July 24. This is expected to keep several thousand people in that city and induce several thousands more to come and see the Democratic visiting statesmen.

The strawberry sociable and festival at the First M. E. church was largely attended last night, and as usual it was one of the most enjoyable church affairs of the season. The parties were large and the cream and cake plentiful and delicious. All the tables were liberally patronized and the proceeds satisfactory. Dr. Davies was present.

An Imposter.

A deaf mute with slate and pencil went from horse to house on South Main and Cemetery streets yesterday afternoon, and gathered in a few nickels and dimes. Later this same fellow was seen coming up the street in company with a drunken man, and was heard talking with him. A lady saw the imposter rob the drunken man of his pocket book, and run off with it. The police were notified of the robbery, but not until after the fellow had got off the streets. The drunken man made a great fuss about losing his money, amount not known—but he has made no complaint to the officers.

Amputation.

Elsworth Block, son of D. J. Block, the proprietor of the Hotel Palace, yesterday underwent a painful surgical operation. Some months ago he fell beneath the wheels of a moving train and was injured so that amputation of his leg was necessary. The stump never fully healed, and necrosis occurred. This necessitated the amputation of the limb, and yesterday Dr. Back, Matthews and Whitley performed the operation successfully. Mr. Block was resting quite easily last evening, and his friends hope soon to see him about again.—Springfield Journal.

A QUEER MEETING.

Property Owners Meet and Talk About Street Paving.

The called meeting of the old square and North Main street property owners was held last night at the tabernacle, and had a matinee about paving. Those present were J. W. Tyler, H. W. Bartholomew, S. K. Shaffer, George S. Durfee, Theodor, A. M. Werner, W. C. Pittner, Frank Montgomery, Franklin Priest, O. E. Curtis, C. A. Carter, Dr. Waltz, Doctor Walston, F. A. Leforgee, B. N. Howenstein and E. D. Bartholomew, all property owners or representing those interested; also Mayor Chambers, Ald. Muzzy, E. A. Gutzman, James Freeman, John Imboden, T. H. Wingate, D. L. Hughes, William Pluck, P. H. Hunt, W. W. Shockey, Henry A. Wood, John A. Dawson, A. Wait, Dr. J. F. Corman.

J. W. Tyler was elected chairman and H. W. Bartholomew, secretary. The object of the meeting was stated, whereupon Dr. Walston made a motion that the old square and the street be paved with brick. It was a cobblestone crowd, and the sentiment was manifestly against brick, Mr. Nelson and Mr. Priest being the champions of the stones. A good deal of the old talk about expense of laying brick, building sewers, etc., was gone over, and the Walston motion was lost by a rising vote of 8 to 5. Mr. Nelson wanted to get an expression of the crowd as to whether the property owners wanted any paving of any kind done this year, and a rising vote was taken. The meeting declared against the improvement by a vote of 9 to 4.

Mr. Curtis, who represented his father, thought the old square should be paved with cobblestones, because he believed this material cheaper and more durable; but, as to the street, he was of the opinion that brick should be used.

It doesn't appear that anything was accomplished. The council has passed an ordinance for the paving of the square and street with brick. The bids for the work have been solicited and they will be opened on the 10th inst. The council may or may not be let. The council will act in the matter. They will either go ahead and have the work done or repeal or revise the ordinance. The hope of the cobblestone advocates is that only the old square will be improved this year.

Memorial Day.

The following official order has been issued by the Illinois G. A. R. officers:

GENERAL ORDER NO. 7.

The 30th day of May next is by the customs established by our patriotic order, and the law of the states, set apart as a memorial day for those of our comrades who answered the final roll call of the Grand Confederation.

The several posts in this department will take proper steps to provide for the proper observance of the day, being governed by the usual customs in their respective localities, by the rules and regulations of the order, and by general order No. 10 National Headquarters. MAN ABOUT TOWN.

John Moberley, an aristocratic and dignified looking gentleman, representing the firm of Oliver & Co., commission merchants in Chicago, was in Decatur yesterday calling upon various parties who delight to deal in options. I was told by a Decatur man that Mr. Moberley is now traveling about gathering in farms sacrificed to Oliver & Co. by reason of the late decline in pork and wheat in Chicago. His firm has a fine farm in Shelby county and another in Fayette, comprising 2,000 acres. Thus it is that the possession of speculative farmers, the result of a life-time of hard work, go by way of the "board of trades" into the pockets of the Chicago hawks. Many a good man has "gone broke" on option dealing.

I see it stated that Elder J. V. Beckman is quit preaching for the present, and is in training for the coming campaign. The Elder is a rattling good talker. His "ground squirrel" story as told in this section, is one of the things that make the Democrats tired.

There is said to be a scheme on foot to have a brick walk built to extend from the end of East Eldorado to Bement, 20 miles away, to accommodate those who may linger after a morning nip after the 10th of May. The north riders will agitate the proposition to have similar walks extended to Clinton and Kenner. Brick makers second the motion.

I learned yesterday that Zachariah T. Banks, the speculative manager of the broken Lovington bank, has at last been located at Portland, Oregon, to which far away point he fled when the bank went to smash. He has a wife and two children living at Lovington, and if Banks don't come back voluntarily, officers will be sent after him. The bank's liabilities are $75,000, and the assets are estimated at only $40,000. S. H. Morrell, the president, loses his entire fortune by Banks' recklessness, but W. C. Cochran, the assessor, tells me his wife has enough left to keep the family comfortably for many years.

The way some people are kicking up a row about street paving, it looks as if their words and actions will have some effect on the new council, and make them go slow about letting the contract on May 3d, as advertised. I was told last evening by a property owner that "it will be a cold day when that paving is done," meaning perhaps that the proposed improvement is to be hindered in some way. He wanted to bet me $500 that the work wouldn't be done within four weeks. I took him up 'cause I didn't have any small change handy.

Ike Eyman tells me that if any body wants to illuminate his nose after the 10th of May he will have to get a brush and paint it red. Evidently Ike is of the opinion that the council will pass an ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquor by the quart or gallon. This proposition is being seriously considered.

I am told that a number of third warders contemplated holding a meeting for the purpose of protesting against the laying of any more brick walks. A few of the second warders want to chime in and swell the chorus.

I met W. C. Johns, the State's Attorney, this morning. He desires it stated that if the editor of the Review, or any one else, will give him information as to who sells or gives Amos Hovestine whisky, such person or persons will be prosecuted to the end of the law. Mr. Johns is always ready and willing to attend to the duties of his office.

I saw Hon. J. H. Crocker of Marion, in the city to-day. He says Marion is anti-slavery, but according to his story some of the residents of the town get drunk just the same. The other day a party of men left Marion on a Midland train, and went to Kenner, a license town, seven miles distant. Inside of two hours the party came back on a return train, and they were so drunk that they could not get off the Marion platform without help. Mr. Crocker thinks this the quickest drunk on record.

A DECATUR girl recently dropped her shoes out of the window and killed a mule. —Monticello Bulletin. That's "another democratic lie." A Monticello girl visited Decatur this week. She was so ugly that a street car mule team took fright at the spectacle and jerked the car off the track.

RAILWAY NOTES.

There will be several local changes of time on the Wabash lines in Illinois on Sunday, made with a view to developing the local business.

The bears base their belief that a Wabash will soon go into the hands of a new owner on the fact that Jay Gould and Russell Sage are making larger holders of its first mortgage bonds than of its stock.

An order has been issued to division superintendents of the Wabash requesting them to notify all section men that the road must be kept scrupulously neat and clean, with all material piled in an orderly manner, so as to give the line an attractive look.

The Illinois Railroad and Warehouse Commission, in its masterly and third complaint of the Kanawha Coal company against the Illinois Central road, alleging unjust discrimination in rates of freight, decides that a shipper with one carload is entitled to the same rate as if he had one hundred, and that competition is not a sufficient reason for allowing a lower rate of freight to a given point.
